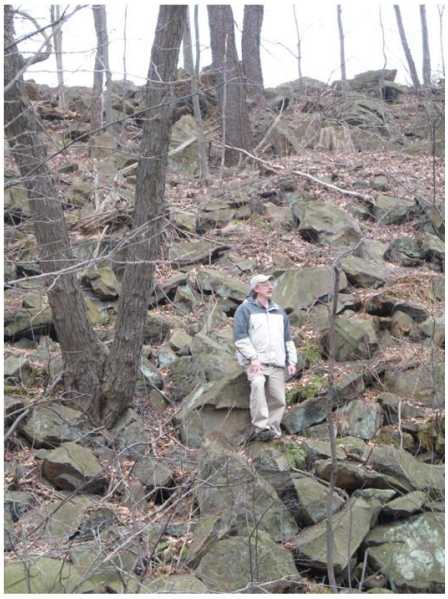
Neil Coleman, M.S., P.G., NRRPT
Department of Energy and Earth Resources
University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown

M.S. Geology, 1979, University of South Florida
B.S. Natural Sciences, 1977, University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown

Course taught: Geophysics

Research Interests: safety of dams, geophysics, flood analysis, hydrogeology, Mars hydrology, Johnstown Flood of 1889, siting of nuclear facilities

Email: ncoleman@pitt.edu



Upper left: View across breach in South Fork Dam. Failure of this dam caused the Johnstown flood of 1889, which claimed more than 2200 lives.

Upper right: Rip-rap on downstream face of northeastern dam remnant, South Fork Dam.
